

We know our stuff. Inside and out.

When you work with Silicon Mechanics, you get more than just state-of-the-art equipment—you get a team of experts dedicated to total customer satisfaction.

Silicon Mechanics is a leading manufacturer of rackmount servers, storage solutions, and high-performance computing hardware. We have one of the most comprehensive product offerings available, and we work collaboratively with customers to create best-fit solutions at competitive prices. Our products are supported by the best warranty offerings available, and are backed by a team of Sales and Support Engineers dedicated to service and solutions excellence.

Well established cooperative relationships with the most advanced technology companies facilitate a high level of innovation in the IT solutions we create to meet our customers' needs. We are able to integrate the design efforts and research capabilities of these leaders into our development process.

Our unique website allows customers to easily configure hardware, compare alternatives and immediately evaluate the technical and financial implications of their options.
